WOOD COUNTY FARM HEARING HELD TODAY

Department Claims Fences Were Not Kept Up

Madison—(P)—The State Conservation Department contended in Dane County Circuit Court today that Sand Hill Game Farm in Wood County, which is seeking renewal of its license, had failed to maintain a fence that would keep wild deer out of the farm.

The Department, through Chief Counsel A. H. Smith and Asst. Atty. Gen. Warren Resch, filed an answer to a suit by Wallace Grange, operator of the farm, directing the State to show cause why the license should not be continued. It expired Jan. 1,

ROAD TO BERLIN IS LONG BUT SURE: FOR

Sends Message on Anniversary of Troop Landings in Ireland

Belfast—(P)—President Roosevelt in a message read today at ceremonies commemorating the first anniversary of the landing of United States troops in Northern Ireland, said: "From now on we think of attack, determined, unrelenting, smashing attack."

The message was delivered at a ceremony at City Hall by Maj. Gen. Russell P. Hartle, temporary commander of U. S. forces in the European theater in the absence of Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

"The first contingent of American troops to cross the Atlantic in this war was landed in northern Ireland," the President's message said.

"They came to buttress the grim defense of the besieged fortress of freedom."

"Things have changed greatly in these 12 months."

"We no longer think of defense. That is past."

"From now on and henceforth we think of attack, determined, unrelenting, smashing attack."

"Our troops and those of the United Kingdom, Canada and the other dominions of our Allies have chafed at inaction."

"They will get action."

"The road to Berlin is long and hard, but it is very sure."

INDICTMENT

Biddle said the alleged fraud was on contracts with the Maritime Commission totalling $2,034,586.

The indictment was in 13 counts, he said, one of which charged conspiracy to present false claims while each of the other 12 dealt with specific charges involving a single ship.

The justice department already has instituted proceedings to recover all of the money alleged to have been fraudulently obtained, Biddle said.

butadiene from grain alcohol favor of making butadiene petroleum.

Nelson defended the shift of tires to England, Russia, South America, in an exit with Senator Wheeler (D-Mt.) "Russia is making good use of those tires," he testified. Alexander is using our tire push Rommel back in Africa. "And rubber we have shot used to lick the enemy. Lick us if we don't lick him."

Situation Came Quickly
The rubber-via-military air has developed rapidly.

Nelson assured the Senate that 55 per cent of the synthetic rubber program, for which it has been waging a vigorous in the face of Army and Navy position, would be "cut through as rapidly as possible."

Wheeler asked Nelson if it was true that Army and Navy "dilemma" were impeding production. "I think they were," Nelson replied, "but not today."

He explained that "the term was changed four or months ago." There were at casual cases, said, but "when find them we take prompt action."

Asked by Wheeler if the was true that buses and might have to be taken off roads, Nelson said a "low in the rubber supply would reached next November and December, but he did not think can take buses and trucks off road because they are essential to our economy."

It was up to President Roosevelt today to call the winner sharp skirmishing between, and the armed services on W. Jeffers should get the over-priorly go-ahead he demand his synthetic rubber program.

The question is known to be in the hands of James Byrnes, Director of Economic Mobilization, for about two but informed sources said military pressure had been applied and the final decision have to come from Mr. Roosevelt himself.

These official sources, who not be quoted, said Army and Navy heads had furnished a memorandum to Byrnes forth their claims. Briefly, are that the special priority five sought by Jeffers would interfere with three other "must grams": aviation gasoline, coal warfare plants, and naval vessels.
