McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

Helps Declarer Make Wrong Guess BY WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY America's Card Authority Richard L. Frey of New York, after a lapse of some years during which he played little tournament bridge, is now making a strong bid for the McKenney Trophy, which is awarded each year to the player winning the largest total of Master Points. So far this year, Frey has won the Eastern States open pair championship, the Vanderbilt Cup for the national knockout team-of-four championship, and the world Masters team-of-four championship.

In defensive play Frey is expert at helping the declarer to make wrong guesses. North and South made three no trump on today's hand at every table except where Frey was the East defender. First of all, when the opening lead was covered by the ten of hearts, Frey did not make the mistake of playing the queen—he followed with the three. Declarer cashed four diamonds. On the third, Frey discarded the four of clubs. On the fourth, dummy let go a spade and Frey played "the ten of spades.

Declarer placed the ace and queen of hearts with West, as East had not even high-signed. That left East with worthless small hearts to discard, yet he had let go a club, then a high spade. It seemed sure that Frey was warning West to hold his club protect on, while East held the spade. Declarer thought his one chance was to find the queen of aces in the West hand. So he led a spade and fessed the jack when West played low. That gave the defenders five tricks.

George Blenker is seriously ill with pneumonia at the St. Joseph's hospital at Marshfield. Among the business callers in Marshfield Saturday afternoon were Mrs. Max Grassel and children, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Minch and son, Mrs. Joe G. Kaller, Lawrence and Mary Smazi, Mrs. Donald Bassuener, Mrs. Paul Bassuener, Mrs. Harry Bassuener and Mr. and Mrs. John Ashbeck and family, Rose Tremel and Mrs. Katherine Kelnophfer.

A farewell party was held at Taucher's hall for Harold Swetz who will leave for Fort Sheridan Dec. 1.

Lincoln High-Lites

A Pearl Harbor commemorative program will be given Monday, December 7, at Lincoln field house, featuring an address by A. W. Zensiek. The newly organized High School Victory Corps will be introduced by Principal A. A. Ritchay. Patriotic songs by the general assembly will conclude the observance. School Dances

Lincoln field house last evening was the scene of the all school dance, the orchestra being composed of some former graduates of Lincoln high school.

Tonight the Pep club is holding its annual "date dance". Members and guests will swing out to the music of the Castillians. War Bond Sale

Last Tuesday the students of Lincoln high and Junior high purchased a total of $132.80 in war bonds and stamps which was an increase of $23.50 over last week. William Miller's class took the lead with the purchase of two $50 war bonds by J. Weldon and R. Gilardi. Their class room total was well over $50.

Again, as in the past, Lincoln high is publishing an Ahdawagawag. Committees have been selected for certain sections with a teacher in charge of each. The activities committee, under the guidance of Miss Iona Giles, is the most active at present. Those on this committee are Anita Kaufman, Richard Acott, Rita King, Robert Krause, Mary Huffman, Robert Cooper, Georgia Gerum and Richard Rickman. All are doing splendid work.

Except for the senior section, which is somewhat lagging, the annual is far ahead of schedule. Continuing the "letters to servicemen" campaign, which began November 23 and will last until December 7, the high school students brought their letters from their roll rooms to the library. From there they were taken to the postoffice of postmistresses Dorothy Holberg and LaVern Herman. Letters mailed this week numbered 476. The five roll rooms with the highest percentages are: LaPerriere 152 per cent; Jewell 115 per cent; Ritchie 113 per cent; Talbot 108 per cent, and MacDougall 97 per cent.
