Reports that a politico-military conference of German leaders has decided on a military dictatorship which will relegate Hitler to the position of figurehead, while unconfirmed and therefore to be accepted with reserve, are important enough in the mere possibility to be of world-wide interest. The rapid decline of axis fortunes certainly presages a military

So far as Goering is concerned, next to Hitler he has been the outstanding personality in Germany. He has had-or at least did havea great popular following. The rank and file of German people have had a real liking for "Hermann" as they always called him.

I believe that no man can take Hitler's place, and that once his dictatorship collapses, the whole structure of Nazism will go to pieces rapidly. Goering perhaps Builder Passes Away could do better than anyone else in trying to fill his master's shoes, but 'Hermann" is по Messiah.

fications for all the parts.

WE SEE IT FOR

A study of the gun by our planning and purchasing specialists indicated that the making of more than half the parts could be subcontracted to other companies. We began at once to place orders with some 1836 subcontractors, located in 281 towns in 30 states.

On June 20, 1941, we were authorized to set up to build the gun in two types-watercooled, twin mounted guns for the Navy, and air-cooled, mobile mounted guns with single barrels for the Army. The two test guns on which we had been working were now completed. Within ten days they were tested by the U.S. Army Ordnance Department and approved.

Plymouth, Dodge, De Soto and Chrysler plants were given their assignments to manufacture certain parts of the guns that were best suited to their facilities.

As gun production got under way the experience gained in years of car and truck production, and the cooperation of Army and Navy engineers, aided us in developing manufacturing short-cuts which saved much time, material and use of machine tools. One part formerly machined from solid and bronze, saving 50,000 pounds of precious brass per month.

We formed the gunsight plate from powdered metal. This was faster, saving not only machine time but material, too.

We made the flash-hider from a plain steel tube instead of a solid forging, saving greatly in time and over 50% of the material. Gun barrel drilling time was cut in half, and rifle grooving was reduced from six hours to forty-five minutes. Many other time and material saving short-cuts were worked out as gun production moved ahead.

The care and precision with which each part is made enables us to put the guns together in one-thirtieth the time required before we applied quantity production methods.

From the South Pacific came a thrilling action story, reported by the Incentite Division, U.S. Navy. A fine American battleship, under the command of Captain Thomas Leigh Gatch, in 30 minutes of swift, deadly action, destroyed 32 Jap torpedo planes-many with 40 mm anti-aircraft guns.
